

The WALT DISNEY Company Europe, Middle East & Africa

DEBORAH ARMSTRONG

Senior Vice President, Advertising Sales, Brand Partnerships, Media Communications National Geographic and The Walt Disney Company EMEA

Deborah Armstrong is Senior Vice President of Advertising Sales, Brand Partnerships, Media Communications and National Geographic. She is responsible for advertising sales and brand partnerships across our television, print and digital portfolio, as well as managing the National Geographic brand across the region, working closely with the non-profit National Geographic Society. She also oversees communications for the media networks division of The Walt Disney Company EMEA.

Deborah joined The Walt Disney Company following the acquisition of 21st Century Fox, where she was Executive Vice President, National Geographic Partners (NGP) and Fox Networks Group (FNG) Europe and Africa. In this role, Deborah had full oversight for Advertising Sales and Brand Partnerships for FNG and NGP and led the regional growth strategy and P&L for National Geographic Publishing, Consumer Products and Expeditions (Travel). Additionally, Deborah was responsible for Corporate Communications, FNG Europe and Africa.

Deborah joined 21st Century Fox in 1997, and worked across the organisation in multiple capacities, offices and locations. Originally based in Hong Kong, Deborah joined the core launch management team in Asia as SVP Marketing, Communications & Advertising Sales for National Geographic Channel, Asia and Middle East, before returning to the UK in 2002 to build the advertising sales business across Europe & Africa.

Before joining National Geographic and FNG; Deborah was Head of Sales Marketing & Research at CNBC & NBC, Asia, was a founding team member of M&C Saatchi, Asia Pacific, and Regional Media Director, Leo Burnett, Ltd working across global brands based in both Hong Kong and the UK.

Born in the UK, Deborah holds a degree in English Literature & Film Studies from the University of North London.